He's come, let every knee be bent a4 (1723-1810)

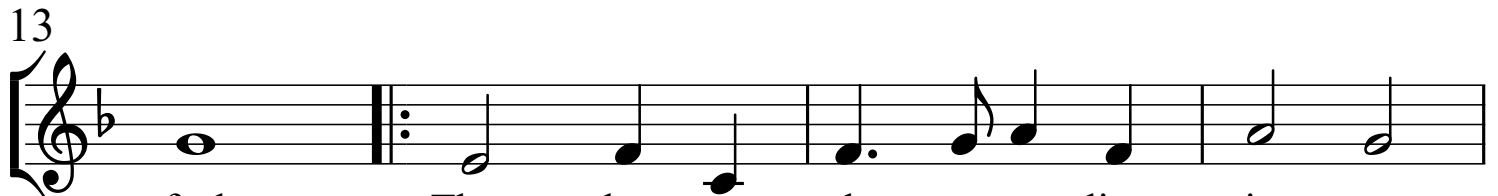

Hail bless - ed spi - rit, not one soul, He's come, let ev - 'ry knee be bent, No an - xious thoughts mo - lest our peace,

But does thy pow'r - ful, pow'r - ful Let all our hearts new joy, new This day let all our grief, our in - fluence feel, but does thy pow'r - ful in - fluence joy re - sume, let all our hearts new joy re - grief re - tire, this day let all our grief re - feel; Thou dost our dar - ling sins con - sume. Let na - tions sing with one con -

BASSO

Joseph Stephenson

(1723-1810)

He's come, let every knee be bent a4

Hail bless-ed spi-rit, not one soul, But He's come, let ev-'ry knee be bent, Let No an-xious thoughts mo-lest our peace, This does thy pow'r-ful in-fluence, in-fluence all our hearts new joy, new joy re-day let all our grief, our grief re-feel, but does thy pow'r-ful in-fluence feel, but sume, let all our hearts new joy re-sume, let tire, this day let all our grief re-tire, this does thy pow'r-ful in-fluence feel; Thou dost our all our hearts new joy re-sume. Let na-tions day let all our grief re-tire; Let ev-'ry dar-ling sins con-trol, And al-so sing with one con-sent: The pro-mised tear for e-ver cease, And ev-'ry fix our wav-'ring zeal, and al-so Com-fort-er is come, the pro-mised doubt-ful thought ex-pire, and ev-'ry fix our wav-'ring zeal.
 Com-ter is come.
 doubt-ful thought ex-pire.
